OLDER BOYS PLEDGE EFFORT TO CORRECT THE MODERN EVILS

Recommendations Are Made Public Today By the Y. M. C. A.

PEOPLE THANKED FOR HOSPITALITY

Organization of Hi-Y Clubs To Be Widened As Need Is Felt

Re-dedication of themselves to the Christian life, use of the influence of the conference to fight the temptations faced by young people, emphatic endorsement of the effort to teach the "right attitude" toward girls, and elimination of unclean thoughts and unclean speech were pledged by the older boys' conference in session here last week.

Copies of the recommendations of the conference and report of the resolutions committee were made public today as follows:

We, the committee on findings, respectfully submit the following report:

First, That we re-dedicate ourselves to the task of creating, maintaining and extending high standards of Christian character throughout our schools, places of employment, and our community and individually as well as collectively to render every possible service to our respective churches in enlisting other boys of our district and State in Christian Life and Service.

Second, That we familiarize ourselves with the work of the State Young Men's Christian Association and its Employed Officers and that the boys of Northern Alabama stand ready and willing to co-operate with them in any way possible.

Third, That as we return to our homes, we will go back determined to "Play the Game," as best we can, especially in the following ways: In our personal living, in our Home Relationships, in our school activities and in our Church and Community Life.

Fourth, That we will enter into all our activities both personal and group in a spirit of thinking constructively of the problems we face.

Fifth, That the state committee of the Young Men's Christian Association of Alabama promote wherever advisable State and District Older Boys' Conferences.

Sixth, That the Prospective delegates of the district or state be used in arranging conference programs and attendance.

Seventh, While we do not urge immediate organization of Hi-Y Clubs we recommend that where the need for such a club exists, early steps be taken toward organization with the co-operation of the state office of the Hi-Y Clubs.

Eighth, That this conference go on record as clearly and unequivocally opposing the following evils, so far as they exist in our respective communities, and to take steps to correct them as far as possible, (a) dirty athletics; (b) all forms of unclean speech, obscene and suggestive printed matter; (c) all forms of gambling; (d) all forms of destructive drugs, liquor and especially cigarettes; (e) dishonesty, such as cheating in the classroom, lying, stealing, etc.

Ninth, That we especially recommend that this conference go on record as emphatically endorsing the right attitude of boys towards girls, and that each delegate will stand out actively against rowdiness, unnecessary familiarity, joy-riding and suggestive conversation.

Tenth, That the report of the Findings committee and Resolutions committee of this conference be given to the newspapers of this district (Northern Alabama) for publication.

Eleventh, That this conference heartily endorse the sending of an Older boy delegate from our state to the World Conference at Helsinki, Finland, and that as individuals and groups we co-operate in every

State's Banking Officials Given Court's Verdict

(Associated Press)
HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Feb. 26—Following the jury acquittal last night of John Sloan, formerly associated with the defunct Bank of Madison on a charge of violating the state banking laws, Judge James E. Horton, in the Madison County circuit court, today directed that a verdict of not guilty be entered in the cases of A. E. Jackson, superintendent of the state banking department, and J. W. Wakefield, banking examiner, who were indicted with Sloan.

The cases now are all off the docket and the Madison bank case is closed.

News of Mr. Jackson's vindication, was received with great pleasure by his many friends here, as was the verdict of the jury in the case of Mr. Sloan.

Superintendent Jackson is well known throughout Morgan County, having been engaged in the banking business in Hartselle and Decatur for many years. He served also as head of a Birmingham bank for a time, and has an enviable reputation in banking circles as an executive of unusual business capacity.

When the charges against him developed, following the closing of the Bank of Madison, his friends in Morgan County felt sure that the legal technicalities involved would be explained to the satisfaction of the court, and news of his vindication today gave them great pleasure.

SHOWINGS OF OIL BELIEVED BETTER

Drilling Continues At English No. 1 At Austinville

That showings of oil continue to be good is the word of the drillers as work goes on at English No. 1 near Austinville. Drills are still in solid rock and the opinion is given that so soon as the solid rock is passed that a definite opinion can be given to the people as the production of the well.

Drillers seemed enthusiastic over the present showings, but stated that passing through solid rock is not so easy a matter as the public might think. From time to time drill points must be changed which requires a great deal of time. It was stated that the well was sunk to a further depth of four feet on Wednesday in nine hours, giving an idea of the work.

Little was said of the sands which some days ago caused rumors that a flow of oil had been struck, but drillers felt that present conditions offer grounds for optimistic outlook.

Mysterious Fire Cuts Telephones

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 26—Three thousand telephones in Birmingham were out today as result of a mysterious fire in a downtown cable of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company. The cause of the fire in the cable was not understood by telephone officials who were searching for its origin. It was declared to be a most unusual occurrence. Many business houses were effected as well as hundreds of residences.

Norris Admits Bill Will Pass

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, has undertaken to reply to all of the letters he is receiving in regard to the Muscle Shoals question and today he made public a missive brought about by the receipt of members of the senate of identical letters from New York, urging the leasing of the property to the highest private bidder.

The Nebraska senator declared the pending house resolution, which would authorize a joint congressional committee to negotiate bids for Muscle Shoals is persistently rumored as having been "fixed to fit a particular bidder's case and never would have been reported by the committee had it not been for the tremendous power wielded by the president."

The resolution probably will be disposed of by the senate, within the

BLAME FIXED FOR 2 MINE DISASTERS

Misplaced Shots Cause Of One Explosion, Inspector Says

(Associated Press)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 26—Responsibility for the two recent mine disasters in Alabama, which claimed a total of 80 lives, was placed today by C. H. Nesbit, chief mine inspector, in a report of his investigations to Governor Brandon.

Responsibility for the explosion at the mine of the Alabama Fuel and Iron company, known as Overton Number two, was placed on parties unknown. This disaster took a toll of 53 lives and occurred on December 10.

Anderson Grigley, negro miner, was blamed for the explosion in the Premier Coal company mine, in Shelby county, January 29, wherein 27 were killed, the report said.

Misplaced shots, which were placed by Grigley resulted in the Premier mine explosion.

Car Ditches In Rounding Curve

A Winton Six occupied by Nick Matruosen, Louis Peterson and an unidentified man was ditched near four o'clock Thursday afternoon just this side of the Flint railway crossing the car barely clearing the tracks. No one suffered injury in the accident. It was stated that in rounding the Flint curve that control of the car was lost, the automobile running over the railway tracks and going into a ditch on this side of the crossing. Considerable damage was done to the car.

REPORT ON DEATH OF JAMES KNOX IS EXPECTED FRIDAY

Despite Careful Guard Of Contents, Inkling Has Leaked Out

"HOOT" TAYLOR CASE NOT CLOSED

Board Insists Convict's Death Was Result Of Natural Causes

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 26—A report in the case of James Knox, Alabama convict who is alleged to have died under mysterious circumstances at Flat Top mine in the summer of 1924, is expected to be made public by state officials within the next 24 hours, it was learned here today.

While this report has been carefully guarded it is known to contain a mass of evidence which tends both to affirm and deny the allegations that Knox was scalded to death in a vat, as punishment because he did not perform his allotted tasks at digging coal.

Depositions have been obtained from fellow convicts of Knox, who are said to have made statements that the young West Virginian was maltreated. The report of two chemists also is a part of the record.

Testimony also is in hand that the convict died from natural causes. It is expected that the grand jury will be asked to determine from the report whether further action is required.

Attorney General Harwell G. Davis and Jim Davis solicitor of Jefferson County, were expected to hold a conference today to make a plan for publication of the report, which is said to contain 500 typewritten pages.

A report last night by the prison board in the case of Hoot Taylor, another convict, who died recently in the same camp, exonerated prison officials of all blame in declaring that the convict died from natural causes.

J. W. Taylor, who died recently in the same camp, father of Hoot Taylor, charged that his son had been beaten to death by two negro convicts as punishment for some infraction of rules. A post mortem examination two weeks ago revealed to a coroner's jury numerous marks and bruises on the man's body. Numerous witnesses testified in an inquiry conducted by the prison board, the testimony in the main bearing out the statement of the prison doctor that Taylor died from natural causes.

One witness, Wiley Pugh, a hospital steward, testified that Taylor complained that he had been beaten when brought to the hospital. Pugh said the man's legs bore marks, but he attributed that condition to the wearing of rubber boots.

Governor Brandon concurred in the findings of the prison board in the case. It was said here today that this action of the prison board would not deter the grand jury from this county, in which Flat Top is located, from inquiring into the case if it was deemed necessary, but county officials were silent as to whether such course would be recommended.

City of Decatur Wins Damage Suit

A jury in the circuit court today returned a verdict in favor of the City of Decatur, defendant in a damage suit brought by W. H. Aycock, plaintiff. The case went to the jury near the noon hour. Mr. Aycock claimed damages as the result of water flooding the basement of the wholesale establishment on Ferry street.

NEGRO CONVICTED OF ATTACKING GIRL DIES ON GALLOWS

Henry Butler Is Hanged In Jail Courtyard at Georgetown

CROWD ALLOWED TO SEE THE BODY

Victim Expressed Wish She Could Pull Rope of Trap

(Associated Press)
GEORGETOWN, Del., Feb. 26.—Henry Butler, convicted of a felonious attack on 10-year old Eleanor Steinmet, was hanged in the jail yard here today. The trap was sprung at 10:04 and he was pronounced dead at 10:16. The child victim of the negro's attack was convalescing at a farm near Bridgeville as the Delaware law, which imposes the death sentence for such crimes, was carried out.

During the night Eleanor was said to have told her mother that she wished she could "pull the rope" of the trap for hanging Butler.

The negro was taken from his cell in the county prison shortly before ten o'clock to the sound of boos and cat-calls from a large crowd that surrounded the jail for several squares.

Prior to going to the scaffold, Butler had prayed with friends and two ministers and had announced himself "ready to go to glory."

As Deputy Sheriff Bud Coy escorted the condemned man into the courtyard, where the gallows awaited, persons in the crowd, who had climbed trees overlooking the place of execution, described the scene to the crowd below. The black cap was pulled over Butler's head and the noose adjusted about his neck as he murmured: "Oh, God, save my soul."

An unseen hand of the hangman pulled the trap rope. The drop failed to break the negro's neck and it was 12 minutes before Dr. Joseph B. Waples, of Georgetown and Dr. William E. Messick, of Lewes, pronounced life extinct.

With the execution over preparations were made for a public view of the body, which was left dangling from the gallows. A small gate in the courtyard wall was opened, so that the line of persons could obtain a momentary glimpse of the executed man, as they passed by.

The conduct of the crowd was orderly, in contrast to the scenes during Butler's trial, when state troops, called out by the governor, were forced to use tear gas to keep the crowd from rushing into the courthouse.

CHILD DIES

Funeral services were held this morning at 10:30 o'clock for Frank five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Reed, at the residence on 8th avenue, west, by Rev. W. P. Reeves. Interment was made in city cemetery, Brown directing. The deceased passed away Thursday morning at 6 o'clock.

TENNESSEE VALLEY BANKS PROTECTED

Gas Is Released When Effort Is Made To Enter the Vaults

Bank yeggs are being given cause for more grief by the Tennessee Valley Banks which have installed anti-burglar contrivances in their various banks.

The protection is furnished by the Anakin Lock and Alarm Co., of Chicago, and is the same as is being used by many of the large banks in the big cities of the United States, as well as by the United States government. The system has already prevented over one hundred bank burglaries for various banks throughout the states.

A general idea of the operation of the system may be explained as follows: A burglar may attempt to enter the vault or safe by blowing, sledging the combination or by burning a hole in the door with a torch but this would automatically set off two auxiliary locks and at the same time breaking glass vials releasing dense clouds of unbearable gases.

The gas is an invention of Prof. W. Lee Lewis, chief of the defense division of the gas service of the American Expeditionary Forces during the world war and now a member of the chemistry faculty at the Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. Police authorities in many of the large cities have endorsed the device as the most efficient measures that could be used by any banking institution, due to its efficiency and surety of operation when other electrical safety contrivances may fail to cooperate at the proper time.

Two fire calls were answered today by the Albany fire department at the homes of Lige Turney, 1222 5th avenue, South, at 1:45 a.m., and W. T. South, 912 Wadsworth street. Damage in both cases was unestimated.

PETITIONS HAVE GOOD SUPPORT

No Outside Aid To Be Obtained For Civic Drive

Hundreds of citizens today cast weight in the balance favoring the holding of the organization perfected in the recent Benevolent Hospital Drive, which ended gloriously, intact and starting upon a drive for $50,000 or more for the locating of additional industries in these communities.

The executive committee of the recent campaign will gather with the victorious Moyo team, winner of the men's banner in raising the largest sum in the recent drive, on Tuesday night at the Savoy Cafe at which time plans for the opening of the second great civic drive will become known.

It was explained that the holding of this organization does not mean that a director will be returned for the campaign, all the money collected or pledged will go toward the campaign, all the money collected or pledged will go toward the campaign for new industries.

Following is a copy of the petition which met with the hearty approval of citizens today:

Having abiding faith in the old adage, "nothing succeeds like success," and having faith in the ability of this community to do whatever it undertakes, and having that faith materially re-inforced and strengthened by the recent hospital campaign and realizing the need and importance of the industrial development of this community, we, the undersigned, believe that the present campaign organization should be held together for the purpose of raising at least $50,000.00 for the erection and operation do we appreciate the message of community and we the undersigned do pledge our hearty efforts and co-operation to this end.

SYNOPSIS

Prince Michael Yervodoff, an immensely wealthy Russian noble who keeps "open house" in Paris, is giving one of his famous parties on the night of the Fete de la St. Valentin. The atrocious staging of the party, the grotesque decorations, the vulgar intrigues, the boisterous attentions of a group of public merry-makers, the noisy and noisy, chiefly because their leader, a pretty little girl dressed as Columbine, has caught his master-philanderer's eye. Dolores, a cast-off mule, summons him to the library for a private interview.

"Do I mean nothing to you any more? Do you treat all women the way you have me? Just tire of them and—then discard them like an old pair of gloves. But you, you go along in the same carefree manner while the memories are left for me. You know that I love you, Michael, you know—"

"My dear Dolores, do we have to re-enact that little tragedy? What has passed, has passed—and we surely understand one another. A romance of a few months is an enjoyable episode to remember. A romance of a year means that some of it must be tolerated. But a romance longer than that is an abomination and should be prohibited by law. And now, Mademoiselle, I am sure that you will pardon me as—"

His words were drowned in a crash of music at this point, followed by an outburst of cheering in the ballroom.

Dolores winced. "Very well," she said and her eyes grew cold. "You have graphically given me your answer. For you, our romance has ended, but graciously extended her hand to Michael as he approached.

"How sorry I am that I was forced to miss your charming performance. Perhaps you will favor us again after you have rested?"

"But, M'sieu, I am not tired," she protested eagerly. "Dancing is life and food to me; I never weary of it."

"And the mask, Colette?"

"The mask, M'sieu, is irremovable, surely you will respect my wish," anxiously. Then, as if to change the subject, she stood up. "M'sieu, Michael Yervodoff, this dance is in your honor!"

She motioned to the orchestra, which commenced to play a weird, exotic air. Colette, entering into the rhythm of the music, began a wild, improvised dance.

Passing and fuster Colette whirled and her little figure seemed hardly to touch the floor. The guests looked on in unfledged admiration.

Michael curiously watched this little Columbine of the streets. Who was she? Where did she come from? Probably a model or a mannequin, and in reality just the same as the rest of the species; but, somehow, she was like a refreshing breath of youth.

The musicians caught the nerve of the little dancer and played spiritedly. But suddenly Colette stopped, gave a little gasp, and dropped unconscious to the floor as her overtaxed heart and body gave way. Michael rushed to her, picked her up gently and carried her to a couch, meantime telling Armand to get some wine and water.

Colette's mask having fallen off, a pale little face was revealed there on the cushions. She seemed so like a tired child as Michael bathed her forehead. After a few moments, she gave a sigh and opened her for me—who knows? The curtain has dropped on one act, though other acts may follow. Michael, before—the comedy is finished!"

"So this is the important business," said the Grand Duchess accusingly.

Armand rushed into the room. "A thousand pardons for the interruption, Mademoiselle," he murmured apologetically to Dolores, "but I was delegated to announce to you, Michael, that Colette and Freddy Erskin are engaged in a fox-trot the equal of which was never seen before, especially as Freddy has frequently looked upon the wine while it was red and his glances were evidently of lengthy duration. You must see it! It's too good to miss!"

"I will not detain Monsieur Michael from his guests any longer," Dolores said wearily, then asked: "May I be permitted to rest for a moment before departing?"

"Pray do so, Mademoiselle, by all means," Michael bowed, then he and Armand left the room.

"Another attack of broken heart, I suppose?" Armand found time to observe. "Heaven help you should all your loves come together one night! Paris would be over populated!"

Michael shrugged. "If women will make fools of themselves, well, they must suffer," he said airily. "That fearful interview has left my throat parched."

They entered the ballroom too late for Michael to see the dance; Colette and Freddy had just sunk exhausted in their chairs, to the accompaniment of loud applause from their audience.

"Freddy, if you could only sing as well as you dance there would be some hope for you," cried Nina as she fetched him a glass of champagne.

"My charming partner inspired me," Freddy replied, "for I must admit that never in the course of my career have I executed so many intricate and impossible steps! Have no fear, for I am far too exhausted to enthrall you with my singing any more tonight."

Colette, seated in a corner, was the subject of congratulations from the men assembled around her. She eyes. Smiling bravely at Michael she tried to rise, but the effort was too much for her.

"Be quiet, Colette, be quiet!" warned Michael, patting her hand. "I will carry you to a couch on the balcony, where the fresh air will soon revive you."

In spite of Colette's feeble protestations, he lifted her in his strong arms and walked towards the balcony.

As Michael reached the center of the room, the hallway doors were suddenly thrown open wide by a servant who announced sonorously and impressively:

"Her Highness, the Grand Duchess Sophia!"

CHAPTER TWO

It was a tense moment. No one moved or spoke. Michael, with Colette cuddled in his arms, stood rooted in his tracks under the cold and haughty eyes of the royal newcomer.

Presently the Duchess' thin voice broke on the heavy silence like the snapping of an icicle:

"So this is the important business in which you told me my nephew was engaged?" she said accusingly to the unfortunate servant who had loyally done everything in his power to delay her entry into the ballroom.

The Grand Duchess was short and of generous weight; her flashing eyes and thin, decisive lips plainly revealed that she was accustomed to having her own way; blue-blood and willfulness went together in her.

"And may I ask, Michael, who is this person who seems to be so clingingly attached to you?" she rasped, with a chill look at Colette still in Michael's arms.

Michael wet his lips and came to life. "The poor little girl fainted while dancing, my dear Aunt," he answered suavely, again in full command of his composure, "and if you will pardon me for a moment, I will take her on the balcony, where the air will refresh her."

KIWANIS TALK COUNTRY TRIPS

The Club Plans Early For Somerville March Visit

Fred S. Hunt announced Thursday night at the regular weekly meeting of the Albany-Decatur Kiwanis club that Somerville people are looking forward with enthusiasm to the scheduled March visit of club members from these cities, working with the Farm Relations committee. Indications point to a large attendance of club members in the east county community, the regular weekly meeting having been postponed on that date. Entertainment features added to the pleasures of the week; meeting last night.

Following a dinner, initiation ceremonies directed by Dr. C. C. Davidson informed Garner Pride, manager of the Alabama Power company all the ancient and secret rites of the civic order. Mr. Pride was welcomed by Kiwanians into the rank of the club.

The immortal trio, Marvin Rankin, H. R. Davis and J. W. Wyker, rendered several selections. Mrs. Vera Austelle directed the attention of Kiwanians to the P.T.A. Carnival at the Decatur high auditorium this evening, Miss Dorothy Patterson leading club members into the spirit of the carnival with "Dixie" parody. George Williamson asked for increased attendance. Fred Hunt talked of the proposed Somerville meeting and was assured of a goodly attendance of the membership. W. M. Bailey spoke of the conclusion reached by the board of directors looking toward the raising of the budget this year. Mrs. Joseph Petey, accompanied by Mrs. H. O. Troup pleased in her usual charming manner in voice solo.

J. R. Daniel and J. W. Wyker, the "stunt committee", presented E. W. Godbey whose imitation of M. R. Rankin, secretary and life of the club, caused round after round of laughter. Kiwanian Godbey gave the latest report of the Secretary in memoirs of the St. Paul convention.

Kiwanian S. A. Lynne closed the program with a particularly strong address upon, "Kiwanis Efficiency," in which he laid stress upon the friendship which should exist among club members. Mr. Lynne thought that while the club should have a major activity that it should not work toward that single object to the exclusion of other matters of importance, he spoke of the work upon the Underprivileged Child's program and pointed the danger of going ahead on a sole program. The address was greatly appreciated by the members and guests.

12 Years Ago From the Daily of TODAY February 23, 1914

J. B. Cassels, district commercial manager of the Southern Bell Telephone company, is in the cities today.

Mrs. F. R. Beason was hostess to the Berean club yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Adams, of Mobile, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. L. Maury.

In spite of bad weather an enthusiastic crowd met at the Decatur Methodist church last night and discussed paying off church debts.

Misses Louise Collier and Gladys Godbey will go to Birmingham Saturday to attend the alumni association meeting of Randolph-Macon college.

W. T. Lowe spent yesterday in Athens, on business.

Carolina moonshiners are exporting to the Bermudas—and we always thought Bermuda was peaceful.

If you would lay down on the job, do it quietly, 'tis said that some people are like sheep.

About the most out-of-date thing this day and time is a "toast."

The coast guard will soon be over crowded, that body recently reported that they got a thrill out of an ice berg.

Mardi Gras may be a terrible strain on the eyes, but it's worth it from the looks of the young ladies chosen as queens.

Once he made up his mind, it didn't require much time for the Metropolitan tenor to get out of Detroit. There was nothing indecisive about his action.

Britons take their royalty seriously. An American magazine has been barred from Canada because of publication of an article believed to reflect upon the Prince of Wales.

The modern woman's mode of dressing has caused a cut in the baggage smashing business. Well, somebody had to suffer.

Some people complain of the inconsistency of woman, yet Mrs. Mark Hogee has gone in the aeroplane business and her husband was killed in an air crash.

Henry Ford bought a Savannah lad a bicycle—John D. Rockefeller contributes a dime to the high price of cadillacs—who said our millionaires were not big-hearted men?

Razing of the city park greenhouse, on the city park property, offers the city council an opportunity to prepare a plan for the beautification of the property. What is now a pasture for cows and an apparent wasteland can be converted into a beauty spot. A woman with a dimple seldom misses an opportunity to display to advantage, a city park is a dimple in the visage of a city. Woman is considered wise, cannot the city follow the lead of the wise?

Five industries this year will mean Albany-Decatur is well on the road to the 50,000 population mark. "$50,000 for 50,000 folks," is not a bad slogan for the rejuvenated organization of hospital workers who recently showed that talk is cheap and removed the aspect of gloom that first pervaded even the stoutest hearts. It is an investment which should reap a goodly percent in addition to the principal.

KIWANIS PREPARE FOR TRIP

With the Somerville visit only a few weeks away, heads of the Farm Relations Committee of the club are already making careful plans to open the year's program with an excellent meeting. All the enthusiasm is not at this end of the line, Somerville people are just waiting for a chance to welcome their Albany-Decatur brothers and join with them in bringing Morgan county into the rich harvest of progressive measures which she deserves. The county can never grow to her advantages, it takes the folks in the county to bring in full measure the growth that is warranted by such a location and such a splendid fertility of the soil. That is exactly a part of the mission of the Kiwanis club, business men trying to help agricultural leaders of the state to realize returns on investment.

Bringing the farmer and the business man together brings into being a spirit that augurs good will and progressiveness, aggressiveness if need be for there are some measures which must be forced through and it takes the combined efforts of the two forces to make the opposite force, or third party, see what is the need. Morgan county needs roads, needs more schools, needs more churches, needs improved methods, needs more home circulation of money. We know of no better plan than this adopted by the Kiwanis club to take care of these needs. A farmer is a responsive soul once he is sold on an idea, get his mind to thinking in terms of the city and soon there is a great marketing center. Sell the business man on the real productiveness of Morgan county soil, the worth of the farmer and soon there are roads to the home of the farmer, schools for the farmer's children, improved methods being taught and taken back to the farmer's land. Think of the advantages of these trips, merchants and business men will tell you today of the results of last year's visits into the rural sections. These visits are inexpensive pleasures in duties performed that mean benefits to every visitor and every host. The Daily heartily endorses the plan and watches with growing confidence for the splendid return to all investors in the bank of good will that is built through these visits.

OUR FOURTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

Newspapers, like folks and cities, have birthdays and if they have fought a good fight since entering into business, if they have kept faith with the public then they're proud of their anniversaries just like any ordinary human being. A newspaper to a newspaper man is a living being, teeming with enthusiasm, ready to pass another milestone in civic progress, fighting for the principles which will benefit a people, standing for the right and justice to all. That is a description which we hope fits The Daily upon this day as the newspaper passes its fourteenth anniversary. When people think of this newspaper we cannot but hope that such a picture is in mind.

Fourteen years ago, February 26, on a blustery February afternoon when everybody knew all about the operation of the Duplex press, yet nobody knew very much for it was a new venture, as the evening shadows began to gather, the first issue of The Daily came off the big press. The Duplex was characterized at that time as "the big press," in reality it was a forerunner at that time, today the present Albany-Decatur Daily is trying to prove that the good old machine is a back number and like the horse and buggy, must be relegated to things of another age, a past era. Of that original force there remains but a single member, but there are many Twin Cities who gathered in The Daily, "downstairs" that February afternoon to watch the first issue come off the press. Then the period of hard-sliding was begun. It was the object and aim from that first afternoon of the editor and founder, William Randolph Shelton, to serve the people as he thought best, to build where before there was a barren land, to bring to the minds of citizens the tremendous worth that could be found within Albany-Decatur and Morgan county. His road was not an easy one, his progress was not rapid, many of his dreams did not come true, but there are many days left and the dreams he envisioned are daily coming to pass as citizens gather in full strength and remove great civic burdens from the shoulders of the communities. The Daily thinks back today to the pleasant years its guidance was placed in the hands of Mr. Shelton and though there is pain in thinking of the leader now gone, there is likewise happiness in believing that the principles for which he fought are being carried forward with each issue of the paper.

In the years since its establishment The Daily has backed every move in the cities which it has believed just and right. There are no worthwhile causes which have not received the support of this paper, we hope that there never will be, realizing that non-support of such causes can mean only that the paper is not fulfilling its mission to the people through whom it lives and breathes.

Fourteen years ago The Daily circulation was figured in hundreds, hundreds within these cities, today the circulation is figured in thousands, thousands centered in Morgan, Lawrence, and Limestone counties. The size of the paper has increased and at the present the management is looking optimistically toward the future, hoping that the good people of these cities will ask for a newspaper of quality in news and advertising columns, quantity in the number of pages printed from day to day. The groundwork laid by its editor when the bulk of the work fell on a single pair of hands, has now grown into the work of an organization, an organization thoroughly sold on the Twin Cities and North Alabama, an organization feeling within itself a strength that will be used in the development of Albany-Decatur and the Tennessee Valley. The Daily is as strong as its patrons wish it to be. It has always been the policy of the paper to give every ounce of surplus strength into building toward the ideal product, a product which readers will be happy to have within their homes, pleased to allow the whole family read, a constructive force that rouses within men and women a desire to choose only the finest aims in citizenship, that of good fellowship and city building.

The Daily has grown since its infant days, the newspaper has grown with the towns, it is growing with the towns and will continue to be found in the forefront of civic affairs giving the best of its abilities and talents in making the dreams of past years come to a realization. That the newspaper has become a substantial factor in the communities which it serves is evidenced by the call of the people whenever there is a civic proposal of gigantic proportions to be placed before the entire people. The building of the Tennessee River bridge, started twelve years ago and which became a reality not many months ago, the Benevolent Hospital campaign which was oversubscribed by enthusiastic citizens, and now a drive for $50,000 for the location of industries within the Twin Cities, truly an "Industrial Foundation," all these matters of worth were brought to the attention of The Daily even with the first preliminaries. The Daily was chosen as a factor in these various drives, it has always been called upon and it has responded with its full power. Today it stands ready to place all its power to the building of these cities. It will carry on in civic program, be there a dozen or 10,000 citizens working in harmony. The Daily feels the pulse beat of the communities. Today it feels the pulse beating stronger than ever and it looks with hope into the brief span of years ahead when the cities will have taken a rightful place in leadership in the Tennessee Valley, commanding the waters of the turbulent Tennessee, junction point of the South's two greatest rail systems, offering raw material in quantity to almost any class of manufacturer.

As we pass our fourteenth milestone we express thanks and appreciation to those who have made The Daily a success thus far, those who have brought their plans to us and asked for aid, those who have sent material to fill our news columns, those who have used the newspaper as a medium for reaching the buying public. The Daily would like to grasp the hand of every individual who has aided and to the few who have not approved of the policies of the paper, those too, do we thank and hope that in the future we shall all work in harmony with the idea in view, "The building of a greater Albany-Decatur, working for state, church and God, fostering only the best for the people." First and last, The Daily hopes to improve its service to the readers and backers of the newspaper, for the better the newspaper the greater the force of the strength which we will be allowed to mobilize. Again we thank these communities for the splendid support The Daily has received in the fourteen years of existence and if we could have a big birthday party we would gladly extend an invitation to every citizen of the three counties which we are serving at the present. We look forward to the success of all others and ourselves in the years that are to come.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

race that will make the old seem as small as the Mediterranean compared with the Pacific ocean.

In one corner of this great bay you could drop and lose New York's harbor. On either side of the bay is a great city. All about, north, south, and east are the richest and most beautiful lands on earth and to the west the Pacific, western frontier of the white race.

EVERYBODY has said you must see the Sacramento valley. Proud westerners tell you other marvelous valleys that you must see, valleys in Colorado, in Arizona and California, the Imperial Valley, the Napa valley, Sonoma, San Fernando, Santa Clara, many others, not forgetting the great San Joaquin valley, with the world champion cattle and dairy regions and several thousand million barrels of oil underneath the soil.

FOR TODAY it is the Sacramento valley seen from a motor with the top down guided by J. J. H. McCurry, postmaster of Sacramento, Senator Charles Bills, J. F. Elliott who runs a bank and grows pears; J. E. Crew, Frazer, S. C. Porter and others.

These gentlemen do not tell you that the Sacramento valley is the finest country in the world. They simply say that it is the only country in the world, others are passable imitations.

YOU RUN ALONG perfect roads everywhere of course in California. They don't talk roads, they build them. You leave Oakland, a great city facing the Orient and a great future, plunge in a country of most intense development.

First comes Solana county and you think you are in some English landscape multiplied in size by about one thousand and the sky ten times as high as any sky in Eden, and farm ten times as big.

BEAUTIFUL high green hills, covered with sheep and lambs, thousands of them tottering behind their mothers, eat fresh green grass, enjoying the warm sunshine on this February day.

Through Fairfield and Suisun past one of the magnificent high schools that are the glory of this nation you enter the Sacramento valley and see what you came to see.

THE Sacramento comes down from the mountains, supplying water inexhaustible. On either side Californians have built levees that make floods impossible giving the land owner all the water he can use. The rich, dark soil brought down from the mountains to fill this valley could feed millions. It does now produce eighty-five per cent of all the asparagus used in this nation.

On both sides in the many prosperous towns, Rio Vista, Hisleton, Ryde, Walnut Grove, are factories for packing the food that this happy valley produces in quantities unthinkable.

THE lower valley is a series of great islands with the river, source of life and wealth, flowing inside its levees around each.

This, for instance is Grand Island, twenty-six thousand acres, every inch intensively cultivated. It produces pears, asparagus, plums, peaches. How much is the land worth per acre? Don't know, nobody ever sells any of it. You are told with deep sincerity that this is the best land on the whole earth. Why should anybody sell it?

IN THIS ONE CORNER of California they grow and pack every year more than one million five hundred thousand cases containing thirty six million tins of asparagus. And that is just one item in the wealth taken from the soil of this one California valley.

Men came here to find gold and found many things more valuable.

The asparagus crop runs about five thousand pounds to the acre. Owners of the vast asparagus fields begin cutting now, the work is under way and continues through June.

THE ONE PROBLEM is the labor problem. Asparagus men and field men are glad to pay high wages, the asparagus cutter makes as much as fifteen dollars a day. But labor is hard to get, and becomes more scarce each year. This and many other regions will suffer if Congress refuses to admit the good white agricultural labor that the nation needs, the labor that has made this region and the whole country what it is.

It is not that employers want cheap labor. They want labor and want to pay for it.

More of this valley will be seen tomorrow and you may have to hear about it next day.

IF THERE is any finer place on earth than Southern California it is northern California, and vice versa. Every Californian will tell you that and it is true.

This is a magnificent and big country. Great mountains covered with snow look down upon this magnificent great valley. A magnificent river runs through. The big Pacific to the west sends the rain clouds that strike the Sierras and pour down upon this valley.

No wonder Californians stay in California and wonder why the rest of the nation does not rush in. It would if it knew what this country is.

The Bank of Enslay is being remodeled and when complete will double the size of the present space.

WOMAN'S MUSIC STUDY CLUB

HOSTESS, MRS. J. L. PROCTOR
PRESIDENT, MRS. H. O. TROUP

Wednesday afternoon the Woman's Music study club opened its February 24th program in the attractive reception suite of the John L. Proctor home on Johnston street. Vases of spring flowers and ferns were an additional attraction. The chairman, Mrs. H. O. Troup, opened the meeting at three o'clock. The roll call by the secretary, Mrs. L. A. Hobart, was responded to with current events in the musical world, the program was a study in American and patriotic music, Mrs. David Gibson giving the opening number, "The Raggy Dance," by Victor Herbert. "Music in the time of Washington," was ably discussed by Mrs. Atlee Hoff. "The Star Spangled Banner," was sung in unison by the club. "Melody" by Dawes, played by Mrs. H. O. Troup. "A Lullaby," Mrs. Frank Morrow.

The chapter on "Fundamentals of Music" (the serious study of the club), was given comprehensively and intelligently by Mrs. H. O. Troup, chord progression illustrated on the piano. A Chopin duet by Mesdames E. E. Graves and H. O. Troup was greatly appreciated. The program closed in a gale of laughter. The number was, "Rounds," directed by Miss Dorothy Patterson. The club adjourned.

The hostess, Mrs. Proctor, wanted her hour when she rolled in a tea wagon on which was arranged delightful refreshments in which the Valentine idea predominated. The George Washington suggestion was carried in cherries. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Mary Farrie.

By special request the cantata given Easter at the Central Methodist church, will be repeated.

U. D. C. ENTERTAINED

Mrs. E. D. Whitman was hostess to the United Daughters of the Confederacy on Thursday afternoon and her home was beautiful for the occasion being beautifully decorated with the national colors, with flags predominating. This day had been set aside to commemorate the birth of our first president, George Washington. A massive painting of Washington was mounted on an easel topped with a gilded eagle and this portrait added much inspiration to the tributes that were paid for the founder of our country of whom it was said "He was first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen."

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. E. D. Whitman when plans were devised for work for "National Patriots week" which is a national non-partisan American movement to fittingly observe the 100th anniversary of the death of Thomas Jefferson and to free the debt and endow the Monticello home as a national memorial to the author of the Declaration of Independence. It was also decided to have the Confederate Memorial Appreciation contest in connection with the harvest campaign.

Mrs. R. M. McGlathery, accompanied by Mrs. Seneca Burr, sang a group of appropriate songs. Mrs. Morgan Stickney gave the Biography of Washington, Mrs. D. C. Almon told of Washington University. A word picture of the Washington monument was drawn by Miss Rebecca Leedingham after which Miss Mar. Lou Dancy gave a sketch of Washington and Lee University. Miss Unity Dancy gave an inspirational talk on "Woman's Citizenship."

In the concluding tribute given to the Father of Our Country it was said this his service to the nation did not end with his generation and that his story was not graven only on stone but it lives forever.

The hostess served ice cream and cake in the flag motif with hot coffee and on each plate dainty souvenirs, miniature flags tied to hatchets with red, white and blue ribbons, were received. Assisting Mrs. Whitman in entertaining were Mrs. F. E. Tidwell and Mrs. Milton Harvey. The guests included the members of the Chapter and Mrs. Tidwell, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Seneca Burr, Mrs. R. M. McGlathery, Mrs. McCarty, and Mrs. Sherrill.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Another enjoyable meeting of the Thursday Bridge club was held this week when Mrs. J. R. Doss was their hostess at her pretty home on Johnston street. Myriads of jonquills added brightness to the home.

Mrs. H. R. Davis was a guest for the afternoon. The prize for top score was awarded to Mrs. George Clemm after which a tempting salad course was served.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS POLYTINSKY

One of the loveliest of the social courtesies extended to Miss Hilda Polytinsky, a bride-to-be of this week, was the luncheon at the Hotel Lyons on Thursday at one o'clock given in her honor by Mrs. J. B. Orr, of Hartselle.

The luncheon table was very artistic in its beautiful decorations and appointments. A miniature bride and groom was placed in the center of the table and bowls of sweet peas were arranged by the side of dainty souvenirs at each place. Hidden in the latter were toasts to the honoree that were given between the five courses of menu served. The color motif was pink and white.

Miss Polytinsky's titian blond beauty was enhanced by her gown of Britany blue with accessories to match and her corsage was of rose buds and sweet peas. Bridal place cards, pink and white, bore the following names: Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. R. E. Crittendon, and Mrs. Charles Orr, of Hartselle, Mrs. Lile of Birmingham, Mrs. E. B. Polytinsky, of Athens, Mrs. I. Wynn of Huntsville, Mrs. A. Polytinsky of Decatur the honor guest and the hostess.

EVENING BRIDGE

Mrs. Spencer Garnett, Mrs. O. P. Stinson, and Mrs. J. W. Boggis were joint hostesses at a delightful evening bridge party on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Garnett. Her home was prettily decorated with spring flowers, jonquills predominating.

Two prizes were awarded, one going to Robert Gray and the other to Mrs. Shaffer. Late in the evening light refreshments were served.

Those participating in this hospitality were Mrs. R. M. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gray, Mrs. J. R. Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hatfield, Mrs. Bobbitt, Mrs. B. A. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boggis, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Garnett, and Mrs. O. P. Stinson.

SILK STOCKING CLUB

The Silk Stocking club met on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. C. W. Knight. She entertained them with the following other guests as the home of Mrs. John Knight an Sherman street: Mrs. Alan Wallace, of Cullman, Mrs. George Wallace, Mrs. Edridge Adams, Miss Christine Almon, Miss Dorothy Patterson and Mrs. Robert Banks.

Mrs. Adams received the guest souvenir and Mrs. Joe Woods the club prize for the highest scores at the club game, bridge.

Mrs. Knight served a salad course at the conclusion of the games.

CANTATA POSTPONED

The Easter Cantata to have been given on Sunday afternoon at the Westminster Presbyterian church, has been postponed until March 7th.

W. W. Benson superintendent of the Decatur public schools, has returned from Washington, where he attended the meeting of the superintendents' division of the National Educational Association.

The birthday party that was to have been given on Saturday afternoon by Master Junior Summer has been postponed owing to the illness of his little sister, Joan.

Bryan McAfee returned to the University of Alabama, on Thursday after having recuperated from an attack of flu.

E. R. Humphrey is resting well, following an operation for removal of his tonsils.

R. A. Kirkland will return from a visit to Memphis on Saturday. He will be accompanied home by his brother, W. J. Humphrey, who will be his guest for a few days.

Mrs. A. Polytinsky left Friday to spend a short while in Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Stickney and family will move to East Cain street next week.

Mrs. George Jackson is ill with flu at her home.

Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Hunter, B. A. Turner, W. R. Smith, and Roy Nash left this morning for a business visit to Birmingham, making the trip by motor.

Fall Results In An Injury To Ear

Lec Gagle, Albany route 8, suffered a severe injury to his right ear on Thursday when he fell while working in the field upon a pointed stick, the stick entering the ear and lacerating the drum. The young man was here today being treated by Dr. J. L. Gunter. C. C. Gagle, father of the youth, stated that the boy was working in the field and attempting to turn, caught his foot in a vine throwing him to the earth, the stick going straight into the drum of the ear.

Elliott New Head Of Gin Company

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 25.—Thomas Elliott, president of the Cincinnati Car company, who today was elected president of the Continental Gin company, will assume charge of the latter company on March 1. Mr. Elliott also was named a member of the board of directors. Other new members of the board are: Robert W. Woodruff, J. N. Goddard, George W. Woodruff, and Thomas K. Glenn, all of Atlanta. Mr. Elliott and the other new members of the board, recently acquired extensive interests in the company in a transaction involving about $8,000,000. The company has properties here and at Prattville, Ala., at Dallas, Memphis and Atlanta.

Correct weight can be yours

"I DO NOT want to be thin! I just want to be my right weight! I want these hollows filled out. I just want enough firm, plump flesh on my bones to fill out my figure." Of course you do. You want a figure that you can drape your clothes on—not just hang them on! What's the use of having pretty clothes, if they just hang on you? And what would you say if you were told you could have the figure you want? A graceful, well rounded body—firm, solid flesh—just enough—just your right weight? You'd be mighty happy, wouldn't you? Well, then, be happy—because you can have it! Put plenty of red cells in your blood and watch your weight go up to where you want it! That's what the matter with you! Your blood is impoverished. You need more rich, red blood. S. S. S. is the thing to put red blood in your system. S. S. S. helps Nature build red blood cells by the millions. You just try S. S. S. and watch how quickly you begin to fill out your clothes. Notice your skin clear of unsightly blemishes—your appetite increase—strength come to flabby muscles—and vim and vigor fill your whole system. It's red blood that does it. And S. S. S. surely helps Nature build that red blood. S. S. S. is sold by all drug stores. The larger bottle is more economical.

Esma Wallace
vs.
Claud N. Wallace,
Circuit Court, Morgan County, Alabama, in Equity.

In this cause, it appears to the register from the affidavit of complainant, that defendant Claud N. Wallace is a non-resident of Alabama, and that his residence and post office address are unknown, after diligent effort to learn the same. It is therefore ordered by the register that publication be made once a week for four consecutive weeks in the Albany-Decatur Daily, a newspaper published in Morgan County, requiring said defendant to plead, answer or demur to the bill in this cause by March 14, 1926, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

This February 12, 1926.

AMUSEMENTS

SCORES BIG HIT

(Huntsville Daily Times)
The Bobbed Hair Revue which opened its week's engagement at the Lyric Theater yesterday and last night was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience which gave the players generous applause throughout the entire performance.

The two blackface roles portrayed by Charles "Cotton" Watts and Billy Moring were exceptionally good and pleased 100 per cent; the large audience being kept in throes of laughter at all times.

The singing and dancing was also good the headliners being Patsy Lyons the bluest blues singer who ever blew into town; Andy White the "radio ace" who has already been heard by many Huntsville radio fans having broadcasted a number of times over BASB, the Atlanta Journal station and WGN at the Edgewater Beach Hotel at Chicago; and Mary Gray Allen, singing and dancing soubrette; together with Billy Moring singing his specialty of "Pa, Ma and Me," also Mae Allen in character songs. The dance numbers were carried through by the Lyons' Bobbed Hair Beauty chorus.

One of the best numbers on the and trio of real merit composed of Andy White, pianist and Patsy Lyons and Mary Gray Allen. Their songs were good and they were called back on numerous encores. As announced here will be four complete changes of program, both as to pictures and vaudeville. New programs will be offered on Wednesday, Thursday for two days and again on Saturday.

Big crowds should greet every showing of this rare treat to Huntsville theater-goers at the Lyric this week.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY THE HI-Y CLUB

Lessons Drawn From Recent Conference of Older Boys

The Albany Hi-Y club had a meeting last night at the local Y. M. C. A. The meeting was called to order by President McKelvey, after which there were several short talks by some members on what they considered the best lessons obtained from the Older Boy's Conference held in Albany-Decatur last weekend.

W. C. Hughes discussed the speech delivered by Mr. Nelson, Y. M. C. A. State Secretary, on "Playing the Game in the Home." Kyle Frazier commented upon the hospitality shown visiting delegates and speakers by local people, bringing out the point that Albany-Decatur citizens showed wonderful co-operation with the two Hi-Y clubs during the conference.

O. S. Hagerman, Advisor to the club, made several remarks about the behavior of the boys. He said he had never seen better behavior. He brought out the point that 'A Good Name is Rather to be chosen than Great Riches.'

After this, an election of officers for the second school semester was held. The following officers were elected, namely: Thos. Bowles, Jr., president; Billy Martin, vice president; Jno. B. Scheer, secretary and Kyle Frazier, treasurer. Glenn McKelvey, ex-president, was unanimously elected for junior member of the advisory committee.

At the next meeting there will be an initiation of two candidates, Tom Guyton and Solon Grayson. The initiation committee is composed of Glenn McKelvey and Ross Dublin. All members were urged to be present.

Sheriff Asks Financial Help

The following card was issued today by Sheriff Poole:

"I wonder if the citizens of the Twin Cities would not desire to raise a fund of some $200 to aid in the effort to capture the slayer of T. A. Bryant. If the citizens here would offer a reward, I believe that governmental agencies also would act, and a reward of sufficient size to prove very interesting would be raised. I hope the citizens will not misunderstand this request. I am making it in the hope that the money will aid us at distant points in enlisting the help of agencies entirely apart from our own officer personnel, which I assure you already is and will continue to bend every energy toward capturing this criminal, without any reward whatever, except the knowledge of a duty well done.

Yours truly,
Sheriff Poole

Ponzi Allowed Bond of $1,000

(Associated Press)
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 25.—Charles Ponzi, sought on a federal warrant charging use of the mails to defraud, surrendered to the United States marshal here today.

He made bond of $1,000 fixed when the warrant was issued yesterday and left the federal building. March

SPORTS

Huntsville Takes Franchise, League Now Awaits Action From Albany-Decatur Folk

With the announcement that Huntsville has declared to enter the organized loop in baseball for the coming season, fans in Albany-Decatur who are interested in seeing the Twin Cities in another flag chase today went about their unusual duties of obtaining the $5,000 guarantee necessary for bringing a franchise to rest on this side of the Tennessee river. Fans understood that $5,000 was a pretty good sum to raise, but after working a few hours expressed confidence that during the early part of next week that President Martin could be wired in the affirmative.

Huntsville's action usually brings some definite challenge from the Twin Cities, look at the hospital drive, consequently fans felt today that refusal on the part of the Twin Cities to enter the league would be in a sense the refusal to accept a challenge from Huntsville folks, that's something local folks don't consider good etiquette whether in baseball or in anything else.

It is probable that a definite answer can be given to President Martin by the early part of next week, dependent of course upon every fan in the Twin Cities. It is believed that everybody is going to have a chance to get in on the money raising so that the gaff won't be too hard for anyone to stand. Just as is the case in everything else, someone has to lead off and business men are pledging substantial sums to start the ball rolling. Committees will possibly report late this afternoon to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which organization is fighting side by side with fans who believe that the team can be made possible. The two forces will combine in the last drive to assure the full quota. It is pointed out that contributions may be returned at the end of the season in case that the season is a success financially.

The opening of the Southern tournament in Atlanta today is being watched closely by basketball fans over the entire southland. North Carolina State will fire the opening bolt at Auburn this afternoon with the remaining 14 teams scheduled for tonight and Saturday. The finals will be played on next Monday. All teams had arrived at tournament headquarters today. Tulane, a first class contender, arrived with a crippled team, Eddie Morgan, all southern center in

DATE CHANGED

The date of the banquet of the Moye team, originally scheduled for Monday evening, has been postponed until Tuesday evening. In addition to the executive committee and other guests, previously announced, the banquet also will be attended by Rev. Noble R. Edwards and Rev. E. Floyd Olive.

Another Hike For Saturday Is Set

The Boy's department of the local Y. M. C. A. under the direction of S. E. Arvidson will conduct a hike for young boys of the cities, on Saturday.

If the weather is good, the hike will be made to the country, otherwise another industrial hike will be conducted for the boys.

Boys were requested to report to the Y. M. C. A. not later than 8:30 a. m. and each boy should bring a lunch. The hike is open to any boy of the cities.
